STAND UP AND SPEAK UP | FOR STUDENTS

See something? Know something? Tell someone.

You can do it in under a minute. You do not have to be the one it happened to. Pick whichever way feels safest.

1 Send a text

Text the number below and say what happened, who it is about, and where. Texts are confidential: school staff who review reports can see the number you texted from. A text does not send your location, so say where it is.

2 Scan the QR code or open the web page

Your name and number are optional. Your phone asks your permission before it shares your location. If you share it, staff see it on a map with the distance from campus.

3 Use the app

Download Active SOS Protect and enter your school's organization code. The app asks for your name and number, and it sends your location with the alert. Protect does not track students and has no background location.

4 Tell a trusted adult

A counselor, teacher, coach or staff member. You can also tell a parent or guardian and ask them to report it for you.

STAND UP AND SPEAK UP | FOR PARENTS

Parents and guardians: how your child can tell someone.

Kids often stay quiet because they do not know a fast, private way to tell. Walk through these options together.

1 Text

You or your child can text the school's number. Texts are confidential, and school staff can see the sender's phone number. A text does not send location, so include where it is.

2 QR code or web page

Open the school's page on any phone. Name and number are optional. The phone asks permission before sharing location, and a shared location shows on a map with distance from campus.

3 App

Active SOS Protect with your school's organization code. The app uses a name and number and sends location with the alert. Protect does not track students.

4 A trusted adult at school

Help your child pick an adult they trust.

5 If your child tells you

Stay calm and listen. Thank them. Ask what happened and what they need. Keep dates and screenshots, and report it to the school using any option above.
